Description of Program:	The Department of Plastic Surgery in Wesseling at the Dreifaltigkeits-Hospital is part of the University of Bonn and located in between Cologne and Bonn. The clinic was established 35 years ago and credits its international reputation to the achievements of Professor Neven Olivari and the ongoing and intensified new developments of his successor Dr. Dirk Richter, especially in the field of facial and periorbital surgery and body contouring. The clinic provides a fully accredited training program for plastic surgery residents and covers the spectrum of plastic surgery as well as orbital decompression and craniofacial surgery. The clinic participates in the charity program for the "Friedensdorf"- performing honorary secondary reconstructive surgery especially in burn injury victims. The clinic has been hosting international fellowship participants for many years and values the scientific, intellectual and cultural exchange.
