Description of Fellowship: Outstanding one-year fully funded clinical fellowship at the University of Pittsburgh. This well established body contouring fellowship is based in a high volume multidisciplinary body contouring center and focuses on body contouring after obesity and weight loss. Learn advanced body contouring techniques including body lifts, brachioplasty, thigh lifts, breast reshaping, and fat grafting. All facets of practice covered, including patient selection, perioperative management, and establishing and maintaining a referral base. Excellent opportunities for abstracts, publications, and research projects. Center has a strong track record of publications, and past fellows have gone on to establish centers of excellence in body contouring.
